

BRENNAN BURTKER CONGRATULATES ITS EMERGING LAWYERS

BRENNAN BURTKER LLC

On September 26, 2016, Brennan Garvey LLC changed its name to Brennan Burtker LLC. A premier healthcare law firm in the Chicago market, Brennan Burtker provides consultation and defense litigation services to a diverse base of clients including academic hospitals, community hospitals, dialysis providers, physician practice groups, insurers and individual healthcare providers. While focused on medical malpractice defense, Brennan Burtker defends healthcare clients in all types of litigation.

Partner Anthony J. Longo focuses his practice in defense of medical and construction professionals. He is routinely asked to take cases presenting unique legal issues. He is a member of the adjunct faculty at The John Marshall Law School, a lecturer at the Illinois College of Optometry and a popular columnist with the Chicago Daily Law Bulletin.

Partner Daniel J. Pylman has extensive experience in all phases of litigation including trial. He has dedicated his practice to defending healthcare professionals practicing in a wide variety of specialties. He has briefed and argued complex legal issues in the context of medical litigation, including the nature and scope of the physician-patient relationship, consent, agency, and the interpretation of the Illinois Hospital Licensing Act, the Illinois Medical Studies Act, and HIPAA.

Senior Associate Rachel S. Stern concentrates her practice in the area of medical malpractice defense. She has successfully defended hospital and physician clients in complex cases in both Lake and Cook counties, and has tried several cases to verdict as a co-chair.

Senior Associate Jonathan E. Cavins concentrates his practice on the defense of healthcare professionals and institutions in professional malpractice claims. He has successfully defended individual practitioners and academic institutions in cases involving complex and catastrophic injuries, and has tried matters to verdict as a co-chair. Mr. Cavins also represents corporations of all sizes in complex commercial disputes and employment litigation.

Associates Dana N. Ferrell, Sherita S. Glover, Kenneth C. Hoffmann, Blair R. Kipnis and Peter C. Nozicka concentrate

their practice in civil litigation with an emphasis on complex medical malpractice cases. Each works for the firm's largest academic and community hospital clients and privately insured physician groups. They defend all aspects of a case from pleadings through trial preparation. We warmly welcome Amica Jutla as our newest associate who will be sworn in in November.
